HONEY BEER BREAD INGREDIENTS:

All you need are 6 simple ingredients to make this honey beer bread recipe:

- All-purpose flour: This recipe is total comfort food for me, so I have only ever made it with all-purpose flour.
- Baking powder: To help the bread rise.
- Salt: I used fine sea salt.
- Honey: Which balances out the savory flavours here with the perfect hint of sweetness.
- Beer: just about any kind of favourite beer will work in this recipe!
- Butter: Which we will use to grease the pan and brush on top of the bread to give it some extra-delicious buttery flavour.

HOW TO MAKE BEER BREAD:

Alright, here are the basic steps for how to make beer bread — it couldn't be easier!

- Make the batter. Super simple! Just stir together the dry ingredients in a mixing bowl, then stir in the beer and honey until combined.
- Add the butter. Pour about half of the melted butter into a 9×5-inch bread pan, and brush it all around to grease the inside of the pan. Add the batter and spread it out in an even layer. Then brush the remaining melted butter evenly on top of the batter.
- Bake. Bake for 40 to 50 minutes, until a toothpick or knife inserted in the middle comes out clean. Remove and transfer the pan to a wire baking rack and let the bread cool for at least 10 minutes.
- Serve. Slice with a bread knife, serve warm and enjoy!

POSSIBLE BEER BREAD VARIATIONS:

Want to customize this beer bread recipe? Feel free to...

- Add herbs: Stir some fresh or dried herbs into the batter. (I especially love adding in some fresh or dried rosemary.)
- Add garlic: Feel free to also mince a clove or two of garlic and add it to the batter to make garlic beer bread.
- Add cheese: Add in a cup or so of shredded cheese to make cheesy beer bread.

OKTOBERFEST

When: September-October

Where: Munich, Germany

ORIGIN STORY

The Oktoberfest festival originated on October 12, 1810, in celebration of the marriage of the crown prince of Bavaria, who later became King Louis I, to Princess Therese von Sachsen-Hildburghausen. The festival concluded five days later with a horse race held in an open area that came to be called Theresienwiese ("Therese's green").

TIMELINE

2020

1810 l Original celebration is held.

1811 State agricultural fair is combined with the celebration.

Booths serving food and drink are introduced, 1818 including the first appearance of beer.

1819 Officials in Munich take over management of the festival.

1850 Statue of Bavaria is unveiled and has watched over the festival ever since.

1880 Electricity is first introduced at the festival.

First roasted chicken booth opens; traditional 1881 chicken continues to be served today.

100th anniversary is celebrated with a record-setting 1910 consumption of beer.

1913 Largest tent, Bräurosl, is built, with 12,000 seats.

The tradition of the Munich mayor tapping the first keg begins 1950 with Mayor Thomas Wimmer screaming out "O'zapft is!"

On September 26, a bomb explodes near the main 1980 entrance, killing 13 people and injuring over 200 more.

175th anniversary is celebrated by roughly 7.1 million 1985 people, the most visitors in festival history.

For the 200th anniversary, officials bring back horse races in 2010 historical costumes and a historical section to remind festivalgoers of the history of Oktoberfest.

Oktoberfest is canceled due to coronavirus pandemic. -

Smaller festivals, called kleineres Herbstfest, or smaller autumn festival," were held after both World Wars.

Oktoberfest has been canceled times due to disease, war, and inflation.

HOW IT'S CELEBRATED TODAY

Oktoberfest has grown into a multipleday celebration and become the largest annual festival in the world, drawing millions of people every year.

The festival continues to break new records every year, from the amount of beer drunk to the amount of chicken consumed.

Custom

dictates that only beer from Munich breweries is served. The six breweries include Augustiner, Hacker-Pschorr, Hofbräu-München, Löwenbräu, Paulaner, and Spaten.

At some point in history the festival was moved ahead to September to allow for better weather. Today the last day of the festival is the first Sunday in October.

other cities around the world have created their own Oktoberfest celebrations. The largest outside of Germany takes place in Kitchener-Waterloo in Canada.

Many

Many festivalgoers wear traditional Bayarian attiremen in lederhosen and women in dirndls.

Roast Chicken

During Oktoberfest, chickens are spit-roasted until the skin is golden brown and crispy. Most people don't have a rotisserie set up at home, so instead make this classic lemon-thyme roast chicken in the oven. Rubbing a lemon-and-thyme butter over the chicken before roasting ensures superbly crispy skin.

Schweinebraten (roast pork)

A classic Bavarian dish, schweinebraten can be made with a variety of pork cuts, like shoulder or even loin. It's traditionally roasted with dark beer and onions. For a quick and easy take on the dish, try this pounded pork tenderloin smothered in onion and mustard.

Schweinshaxe (roasted ham hock)

A beloved beer hall classic, roasted ham hock or shank (pig knuckles) are crispy on the outside with tender meat. They're surprisingly easy to make at home. Try it with Andrew Zimmern's delicious recipe.

Steckerlfisch (grilled fish on a stick)

Simple and fairly self-explanatory, steckerlfisch is marinated, skewered and grilled fish typically made with local Bavarian fish, like bream, though it can also be made with trout or mackerel. At home, try quick-grilling sardines.

Würstl (sausages)

Würstl refers to a variety of classic Bavarian sausages. Try them at home sautéed in a skillet with bacon and apple sauerkraut. Serve with plenty of mustard.

Brezen (pretzels)

You can't have Oktoberfest without pretzels. Large and soft, they're the perfect accompaniment to beer. Try making your own with this über-authentic recipe for German-style pretzels.

Knödel (potato or flour dumplings)

These are large, dense, ultra-comforting dumplings, common in Central Europe. While these potato dumplings are technically Hungarian, the idea is the same. They are like rustic gnocchi.
